UNVEIL A NATION-WIDE CONSPIRACY

BY I. W. W. TO THWART THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT'S WAR PLANS.

Evidence is said to be accumulating fast to support the belief that a gigantic conspiracy has existed for some time to cripple Government.

Western Newspaper Union News Service, Washington. Numerous indictments on charges of conspiracy to thwart the Government's war plans and tie its hands in many ways appear to be in prospect as a result of the nationwide raid of Industrial Workers of the World officers by Department of Justice agents. Evidence is said to be accumulating fast to support the belief that a gigantic conspiracy has existed for considerable time to cripple the Government in carrying on the war that its ramifications have extended into virtually every state, and that numerous anti-war activities, which appeared to emanate from many sources, in reality had their fountain-head in a single group of conspirators. Anti-draft demonstrations, crippling of war industries by so-called labor disturbances and by violence, burning of crops and continuous propaganda of antipathy sentiment, with other activities, tended to embarrass the Government and retard the exercise of its full strength in prosecuting the war, appear from the recent disclosures, to have been included within the scope of the alleged conspiracy. Into the formation and the workings of this alleged conspiracy the Department of Justice has begun an inquiry more comprehensive, it is said, than any launched since this country's entry into the war.

How closely the anti-war activities and propaganda have been inter-related is to be determined largely by the Federal Grand Jury, now sitting at Chicago, investigating documents seized by Government agents in their raids Wednesday of I. W. W. and Socialist offices of that city and throughout the country. Indications are that the alleged conspiracy had its origin in Chicago, and for some time was actively directed from that city.

There also are indications that German money financed, in part, this propaganda, that German funds were spent in many ways to further the ends of the conspirators, and that of the many persons believed to be actively identified in carrying on the work, few knew of this source of financial support.

The grand jury inquiry will not be confined from present indications, to Chicago. United States attorneys who have not accumulated documentary evidence which apparently supports the theory of a great conspiracy are said to be few in number. It is probable that much of this evidence will be presented to other grand juries, once the extensive plans and workings of the chief alleged conspirators are determined in Chicago.

CHINA IS AGAIN IN REVOLT.

Sun Yat Sen at Head—Canton Citizens Fleeing to Hongkong.

Peking, Dr. Sun Yat Sen has been designated Commander-in-Chief of the army and navy of a new Military Government of China, proclaimed by 70 members of the disbanded Chinese Parliament meeting at Canton. The Military Government of Canton is supporting the Peking Government. Fighting between his troops and the forces of Sun Yat Sen is feared. Civilians in Canton are fleeing to Hongkong. President Feng-Kwo Chang says he is optimistic over the reconciliation of South China. He has informed American Minister Reischek that he will not call a popular council or order a parliamentary election until he has determined positively which plan is most acceptable to the provincial officers. Minister Reischek and representatives of the other allied Powers, in order to give financial relief to the Peking Government, virtually have agreed to the postponement of all Boxer indemnity payments for five years and to the increase of Chinese import duties to 5 per cent.

Postpone Peace Meeting.

Copenhagen—The new German committee, composed of seven members of the Reichstag and an equal number from the Bundestag, formed for the purpose of bringing the Government into closer touch with the legislative bodies, probably will not meet before September 12 to consider the German reply to Pope Benedict's peace proposals.

WASHINGTON CITY SIDELIGHTS

Capital Expects Big Increase of Population

WASHINGTON. What will be the war's effect on the population of the District of Columbia? This question is being given consideration by the commissioners and local utility corporations, and the first attempt to answer it may be made when work is begun on the next District budget.

If Civil War figures may be taken as a precedent, there will be not only an immediate but a permanent increase in the capital's population as a result of the war with Germany. In 1860 the total number of persons resident here, according to census returns, was 74,080. The next figures reported by the census bureau, in 1870, were 121,700. The increase was approximately 75 per cent for the ten-year period.

An immediate effect of the present war, according to best obtainable estimates, is that the federal government population here will be increased by 20,000 before Christmas. Many officials believe that this increase will be permanent and that it will necessitate the employment of additional persons in many industries and trades.

If the same ratio of increase should be maintained during the next decade a was recorded in the ten years following the Civil War the capital would have a total population of more than half a million by 1927.

The task before the commissioners and local utility corporations is to estimate the increase and begin now to formulate plans to meet the demand for additional service. With respect to providing additional school buildings and street improvements that would be called for by an enlarged population, the commissioners, it is believed, will be impressed by the importance of starting now to make estimates. Work on the next budget will start in September and it will be next July before any appropriations that congress may authorize will become available. By that time, it is pointed out, the capital's population may have recorded a considerable growth.

Brought Back the Fleeting Days of Childhood

The secretary to the president had put in an exhausting day. There had been much to do in the White House. There had been great questions of war policy; there had been knotty little problems like mosquitoes, which are important only because they buzz and sing and have to be attended to because they are so annoying; and there were bothersome little gnats, even smaller than mosquitoes; like friends who wanted to get letters of recommendation for other friends. It was a day when the thermometer was away up, and piled higher than the mercury was work and worry and turmoil.

Personal life all the day long in the president's week, and never letting anyone know it. He was a stolid, silent, diplomatic official of government, steering between the proper boys and never letting any of the petty troubles reach the president. Oh, you can go to the White House and say that the secretary has an easy job, with an electric fan and ice water handy in a silver pitcher, and all that—but if the secretary's hair was not a fine blond you would be seeing a white hair come through now and then, just as a matter of protest.

So when he reached home and the mother of the six little Tumulties showed him a bad little boy, sorely up to his father's knee, and yet covered from head to foot with paint, the secretary to the president hardened his heart for one passing flicker of time and then melted again as he thought of an hour long since dead.

"This boy loved his art. Let him go to work on the seas, so that he could learn how the colors get into flowers and to find out at last—how many greens you have to use for fields and breakers and trees. And I'd show him how to tint the mist that no painter ever gets on canvas, and the way to make every prism of the light that never was on land or sea. And when he was through with that I'd teach him how to—"

"Look this over, please. I can't make it out." That's the way things go in this world! You can't even try to make things extra pleasant in heaven for a boy who hasn't got there yet, but what a copy reader has to interrupt your inspiration merely for the correction of a misspelled word.

Soldiers in the Trenches Must Have Chewing Gum.

WASHINGTON has just discovered something new in munitions—a strew of battle that you can buy from a street peddler. It is small, harmless and inexpensive—yet it is a part of the fighting equipment of our troops in France. An American invention, used here exclusively until recently, it has now taken untroubled Europe by storm. What is it? Chewing gum! Thanks to the war, chewing gum has assumed a new and dramatic importance.

Technically it is neither a munition nor a ration. Actually it ministers to one of the subtlest and strongest needs in modern fighting. It satisfies a basic psychological craving of the man in the trench. It makes him fight better and die harder. England—slow, stolid England, which made fun of gum-chewing America—is now estimated in the number of the elastic stick. The training of chewing gum in action and the munition factories are making first-line is under a terrific strain—whether he knows it or not. Every muscle is set or about to be set. In such stress relief is to be found in gripping something with the teeth. People in all climates and in all periods soon learned this elemental fact. The sailor who chewed a bullet when he was being flogged knew it. With something to bite on tenaciously, he could take his punishment without wincing. Or, to put it another way, he wined by chewing—and nobody knew he was wincing.

NO REASON FOR IT

You Are Shown A Way Out.
There can be no reason why any reader of this paper suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pain
and dangers of kidney trouble, fails to heed the word of a resident of this locality who has found relief.
The following is a convincing proof of merit.

T. L. White, traveling salesman
188 First St., Russellville, Ky., says:
"I was in such a bad fix with my back that I couldn't turn over in bed. My back ached all the time. I couldn't rest day or night and often had to get out of bed to rub my back. My kidneys acted regularly. I bought Doan's Kidney Pills, and shortly after of them managed to get my back and kidneys well again."

veracity is getting to the level
of the man who was such a liar
that he had to get another man
to call his dogs when he wanted to feed them.

man who loves the sunrise, who gets up in good humor and starts

determination to deal squarely—

THE BIG SHORES LINE

And its Conductor in a bright blue cap
Alights at the gate and at the door gives a rap

And a remedy for each through great or small
And if your back is all in with pain or ache
A bottle of LINIMENT he has for you to take.

On all his remedies for either household or stable
So on this plan you try the results
Use according to directions for children or adults.

Just add one ounce of mother pep to 5 gallons of gasoline
And presto she glides through the mud and across the ravine
To your oil it adds 20 per cent more power by test

There is more Catarrh in the section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it has been supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by P. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy. It is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS
It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.
If your work is tiring; if your nerves are exhausted; if you feel languid, weary or

Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.
It possesses in concentrated form the

a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pain and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headaches. I had used pills and tablets, but

Are You Eating To Win the War?

This Newspaper recommends Today's Housewife to every patriotic woman who wishes to help win the great war.

Today's Housewife is especially needed by every homemaker in the present war crisis, because the seven Courses in Domestic Science now running in the magazine help housewives to better select, prepare and conserve food supplies, to cut down waste, and at the same time to add to the health and welfare of the entire family.

Today's Housewife is the only magazine that maintains a model home where cookery, recipes, new household devices, cleaning methods, etc., are put to practical tests before their appearance in the pages of the magazine.

The monthly lesson on "Cookery, Foods and Nutrition" under the direction of Caroline F. Hunt of the Department of Agriculture, is alone worth the price of a ten-year subscription not only to the woman who follows each lesson but to the government of the United States in helping to win the terrific war with the Central Empires of Europe.

Favorite Magazine of Home-loving Women

REMEMBER

It is worth several times the price of 10 cents per copy.

SUBSCRIBE AT OUR OFFICE
